WHAT'S THE STORY?

Every business or brand has a story to tell. That's where we come in. We will help tell your story in the best way possible through a combination of imagery. Ok enough about us.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Get in touch via email, let us know what you're working on, no need for lots of detail at this point just a few words, we want to know why you're excited about your product or service.

SO WHAT'S NEXT ?

We then help you by creating strong visual content. Our solid production skill sets give us the confidence to experiment, this might mean trying new things we dream up together.

LAST WORDS

We will delight you with every step of the journey, this business and what we create for you is our passion, this is more than just a job for us. We've worked with the largest brands in the world to very small businesses, everyone is treated equally. Our mojo is simple: We're friendly, professional and honest, happy to work directly or through your chosen agency.

D3. Philanthropy

Please add following article here with used formatting:

People who know me from school might know me as a shy boy. I've always been an introvert (and I still am), but now I finally see the positive qualities about being an introvert instead of being insecure about this all the time. A topic that I would like to share you more about.

I started shooting images at a young age, I think I was 13 years old and my interest for webdesign and making digital magazines in Word and Paint Shop Pro became my hobbies. That is also the reason why I'm currently dealing with RSI (pain in my right hand and arm thanks to the computer mouse..). For my self made websites I wanted to shoot images and I loved to capture photos of our cute puppy and our family walks in the nature. This is how I learned about my camera settings and how I developed my love for photography. Luckily my parents supported my creativity.

It really helped me to gain confidence to be myself through my work and meanwhile it was an escape from the real world. I could create everything I want and I noticed I was getting better by reading books and magazines about photography. People started talking positively about my photos and gave me compliments, something I really appreciate during my years as a shy teenager. I didn't feel secure about my self, but I did feel very good about my photography because I enjoyed it so much.

Soon I noticed that if I wanted to become a fashion and portrait photographer, I should have a lot more self confidence because as a photographer you are the one that makes the big decisions during the shoot and you have to control a whole team. It was absolutely not possible to be shy or quiet during a shoot, so in the next years I learned how to take control of the shoot by organising a lot of shoots. Actually, I already felt a 100% different with a camera in my hand. I became another person, I know it might sound crazy, but I still feel this. For example: when I'm at a birthday party with a lot of people I don't know I feel not very comfortable, but when I'm at a shoot with a lot of people I don't know, I actually feel pretty good about myself.

I noticed my photos became better during the shoots where I tried to step out of my comfort zone. This motivated me to organise more shoots and keep practicing the social skills of being a fashion photographer!

Fun fact, I asked clients and team members how they experienced working with me, and what they all said is that I'm very relaxed on the set and that I am a good listener, things that are very important if you work with clients.

Alexandra Frida: "Liselotte has shot our last two campaigns and we have experienced Liselotte as professional, calm, focused and comfortable on set(..)"

Cluse Watches: "I really enjoyed working with Liselotte. What I really value is her professional approach and ability to listen to your needs as a client and her intention to promptly deliver materials that will completely meet your vision and ideas."

Hi friend! Greg here.

Would you do me a favor and keep your email as short and sweet as possible? The shorter the email, the quicker I'm able to respond. Life is short and I try not to spend my life typing away on a keyboard. None of us should, right? Thanks in advance!

If this is a business inquiry regarding photoshoots, speaking inquiries, The Purpose Hotel, etc., then take as long as you need to. Thanks!
